COMMEMORATIVE FILMS FOR CENTENNIAL YEAR SHOWING.....

One hundred years ago, Abraham Lincoln signed a document which was to signal the beginning of an era of ever-increasing abundance in America. With this Presidential Act, he established the United States Department of Agriculture. To commemorate this historic event, the Department has produced this handsome information-packed series of Centennial films for TV. It will provide America with a lasting documentary of Agriculture, 1962:

★ ★ ★ ★ AGRICULTURE, U.S.A. (29 minutes, color) ★ ★ ★ ★

From research comes knowledge...from knowledge comes power—the power to meet the needs of our ever-expanding population. In commemoration of its hundredth year of service to a growing America, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has produced this panoramic film documentary of agriculture on the march. Here is a breathtaking film whose content is timeless—whose message is vital. Here, offered in blank verse narration and in beautiful color, is the story of Agriculture, U.S.A.

FARMERS SPEAK (14 minutes, color)

A study of agricultural farm problems not as vague economic forces, but as problems of people—farmers speak about their families, their dreams, their expenses, their incomes, their failures and successes—and their feelings about agricultural programs.
